Refresher Course on Intestinal Anastomosis for Diplomates

Thursday, 5 July 2018, 08:00 - 13:00

Title: Large Animal Surgery

Description: This half day refresher course is aimed at Diplomate surgeons who perform colic surgery either intermittently or on a regular basis. The session will cover various different types of intestinal anastomoses (see list below) and emphasis will be placed on the technical aspects of each anastomosis and how to minimise or prevent post-operative complications.

This course will be taught by Dr. David Freeman and will be limited to 16 delegates.

It will be held at the Equine Veterinary Clinic (EVC) at the Markopoulo Racetrack (transfer from / to Athenaeum InterContinental included) and will consist of lectures with multiple videos and a wet lab demonstration given by Dr. Freeman.

1. Small intestinal end to end anastomoses - emphasis on common mistakes
2. Jejunocaecal anastomosis - emphasis on common mistakes
3. Small colon anastomosis
4. Caecal bypass procedures & jejunocolic anastomosis
5. Large colon resection and anastomosis

Lecturer: Dr. David Freeman, Prof. MVB PhD ACVS
